

Schedule of Meeting Times:

WKAC 1080 AM Sunday 7:30 AM
Speaker, Robert Emerson
 Study Sunday 10:00 AM
 Worship Sunday Morn 11:00 AM
 Worship Sunday Eve 5:00 PM
Singing every 2nd Sunday evening
 Study Wednesday 7:00 PM

"Set your mind on the things above, not on the things that are on earth." — Col 3:2

Preacher / bulletin editor: Kris Vilander, (256) 472-1065

E-mail: kris@haysmillchurchofchrist.org

Website: www.haysmillchurchofchrist.org

Servants during June:

Songleader: Peter (28); Chandler (7/5), Stanley (7/12), Larry (7/19), David (7/26)

Reading: Robert; Stanley (July)

Announcements: Larry; Marty (July)

Table: David, Peter, Marty, Stanley; Larry, Chandler, Mike, Robert (July)

Wednesday Lesson: Larry (7/1), Stanley (7/8), Kris (7/15), Stanley (7/22), Larry (7/29)

Lawn Mowing (week starting): Marty (28), Stanley (7/5), Robert (7/12), Larry (7/19), Kris (7/26)

The Bible . Examiner

"Examine everything carefully..." —1 Thessalonians 5:21 NASB

Volume 3

June 28, 2020

Number 11

A Simple Verse about Right and Wrong

By Frank Himmel

"...abhor what is evil; cling to what is good," Rom 12:9. This short verse (actually, it is just the second part of the verse) would be a fine one to commit to memory. It states or implies at least three vital points.

First, there is such a thing as good and evil. People used to understand that. We used to know that one is supposed to keep his word, that greed is a bad thing, that marriage is for life, that homosexuality is a perversion, etc. Now, several generations have grown up listening to denominational preachers say that it does not matter what you believe, thereby undermining Bible authority.

We have heard libertarians rationalize any and every kind of conduct. We have grown accustomed to comedians making daily fodder of sin of every kind. Is it any wonder people are confused? Come to think of it, this is nothing new. Long ago Isaiah wrote, "Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil; who substitute darkness for light and light for darkness; ... who are wise in their own eyes and clever in their own sight," Isa 5:20,21.

Hays Mill church of Christ

21705 Hays Mill Road
 Elkmont, AL 35620

Second, it is both possible and necessary to discern good and evil. Personal preferences and moral relativism leave us adrift. There is a fixed standard. It is God. He is right or righteous. "A God of faithfulness and without injustice, righteous and upright is He," Deut 32:4. His word, His self-revelation, is the yardstick by which all conduct is measured. It is the standard by which we shall be judged, Jn 12:48.

Discerning right and wrong begins with the "thou shalt/thou shalt not" passages. We must also take into account principles of conduct, such as maintaining a clear conscience, Rom 14:22,23; not putting other things before God, Mt 6:33; leaving off questionable things that would lessen our influence for good, Mt 5:16, etc. Paul often prayed that Christians would grow in this area of distinguishing conduct, Phil 1:9-11; Col 1:9-12.

Third, we must act in keeping with the quality of any given behavior. If a thing is good we are to cling to it. The original verb in our text is from the Greek noun for glue; be glued to it. On the other hand, if conduct is bad, we are to abhor it. Abhor is from the Latin word for horror, which literally means to shudder. We should shudder at the very idea of some kinds of behavior (really, misbehavior).

Simply put, Rom 12:9 tells us to use God's word and draw the line between good and evil. Once that line is drawn, do not see how close to it you can get without stepping over; stay as far away from evil and as close to God as you can.

Running Amuck Online

By Al Diestelkamp

The computer, with internet and e-mail capabilities, has proven to be a mixed blessing. Like many other opportunities God has made possible, it has been used both for building up and for tearing down; for good and for evil.

It has truly been a blessing that some computer-literate brethren have developed and maintained web pages as still another means to reach the lost and edify saints.

Indeed, the more well designed internet sites that direct people back to the Bible, the better. Perhaps home pages will be to this generation what church bulletins were in the past.

The opportunity for almost instant communication with large numbers of brethren at the same time has arrived via e-mail lists: Preachers have been able to share sermon ideas and illustrations with each other; congregations have been able to issue their own "Macedonian calls" for help, Acts 16:9; news of interest to Christians everywhere has spread all over the world quickly, allowing us to rejoice or weep with others, Rom 12:15, and to pray for one another, Jas 5:16; open-forum discussions of Bible topics have taken place.

It should be no surprise that Satan and his forces also take advantage of this avenue of communication. Besides the obvious use of the internet to peddle smut, infidelity, and humanism, he has used it in a more subtle way to spread false doctrine and gender strife.

It seems, based on the discussions I've seen on the various e-mail "lists," that a few brethren are inclined to run amuck. I don't know—maybe there's something about sending comments over a modem that emboldens some to make outlandish arguments. Or, maybe arguments are being made while "on-line" and not enough thought and study has gone into them. The result is less than edifying.

I'm not calling for an end to discussions, nor am I suggesting any kind of imposed control—other than self-control. It would be good if we all would measure our words as we discuss the Bible among ourselves.

Remember in Prayer

Buddy was hospitalized, and has been diagnosed with non-alcohol related cirrhosis of the liver; he is home, now, awaiting the results of more tests.

Bernice is still in the hospital at least until Monday; plans are yet to be made following that. Lois has been very sick as well; Home Health will begin coming to help.

Please continue to pray for Madelene Britnell, Carolyn Dennis, Tim and Dot Hice, and Polly McNatt... 